26th Post - An unlikely source has emerged

June 21, 2024

Well, it was bound to happen at some point in time, I finally got a source to pay attention to cookies and cache and trackers and hopefully I led them on the right trail of information that they needed to know especially the info included in this blog! It's amazing what the internet can do sometimes and how funny things like this end up playing out, the universe must have a sense of humor to some degree haha! So, I hope this helps things in the long run play out with the long game here being played... I stand by my words the truth will always come out! Trust me it always finds a way here, especially if your persistent like me and having faith and believe the words to be true, I've said it before I was raised knowing this motto and the more strongly I believe in it the stronger it will become someday when sh*t hits the fan for all those that are illegally causing harm to me and my name here. My effort is to document events and things as they happen so there a trail of information when the time becomes relevant! I'm not doing this for nothing, for the truth will always come out!

For the record I'm not proud of what had to happen in order for the source to appear but know this in my mind I knew something like this would happen at some point in time, I kept up with persistence and eventually got the result looked for here and it's a doozy but know I knew this would happen. So, let it be known I did what I had to do here because of the end game result, that's a fact.

Unlikely Source Internet Trust Belief Everything happens for a reason
